Powerful Russian Assault Threatens Nazi Zhlobin Base

Sweeps Up 80 Villages—Germans Say Fresh Soviet Drive Aimed at Minsk

LONDON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Powerful Red Army forces smashing northwest of Gomel and threatening Zhlobin swept up more than 80 villages today, Moscow announced tonight, while to the north the Germans reported a fresh Soviet offensive rolling down the Smolensk road to Orsha, apparently aimed at Minsk from the northeast.

The Russians were silent concerning a northern drive upon Minsk, White Russian capital, but a German radio dispatch said it had pierced the German line at a point 25 miles from secondary defences.

Russian troops carved out new gains in two other sectors, said Moscow communiques recorded by the Soviet radio monitor and wiped out 1,000 Germans thrown without consideration for large loss into vain counter-attacks west of Chernikov in the strategic Dnieper bulge line.

Starting on the Tyrrhenian Sea coast below Rome, Soviet forces plunged closer to the rail junction of Znamenka, key to lateral communications between the Dnieper bend sack and Kiev bridge. Moscow said they captured Dmitrovka and Pedorski, six and 18 miles north of Znamenka, and other Nazi strong points in this push southwest of Krementchug. Four hundred Germans perished in this general action and 27 tanks were wrecked, the midnight communique supplemented added.

NAZI B. TALION WIPED OUT

A battalion of Nazis was reported wiped out in the bend of the Sozh River, southwest of Zhlobin as the Russians were routed from prepared positions.

The communique pictured desperate German efforts to roll back the Soviet bridgehead west of the Dnieper over Cherikov, and said 26 Nazi tanks were wrecked in repeated enemy counter-assaults.

Across the line, second day, the Russians made no mention of the bloody fighting in the Zaporozhe-Kornadeen area west of Kiev where some of the greatest tank battles of the war are said to be raging in deep snow.

The thrust closest to Zhlobin swept up prisoners and knocked out 20 artillery tanks and Red Army soldiers flamed into action in one sector in speed directly opposite to men and equipment, the war bulletin said.

The retreated surge northwest of Gomel by Gen Constantine Rokossovsky rolled the Germans back over gale rain snow and mud and the Russian Army newspaper Red Star said Zhlobin Mogilev, and Kalinkovichi on the Leningrad-Odessa rail line were "in the Germans' outflanked, and could not hold out any longer."

Nine populated places were taken along the lower reaches of the Pripet River, the communique said.

Depicting the wider push of Konstantin Rokossovsky's armies into the powerful German strong-

Sink Large Jap Tanker, Troop Ship

Two Destroyers Hit By Alert Aircraft

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Dec. 2 (Friday).—A loaded 10,000 ton Japanese transport and a large tanker were destroyed and two destroyers damaged by alert Allied reconnaissance planes which spotted a sudden increase in enemy shipping activity off Kavieng, New Ireland, headquarters reported today.

The Attacks occurred the night of November 30 and the morning of December 1.

Fifth Air Force Liberators opened the assault on a convoy containing of two destroyers, the transport, a large 9-hatch ship and two smaller oil vessels, moving northwest toward Kavieng. After two direct hits were scored on the transport, heavy explosions occurred and its human cargo abandoned it before 11 tank.

Several hours later, two United States Catalinas on separate reconnaissance scored bombing successes at almost the same moment.

One spotted two destroyers scorching a direct hit on each with 900 pound bombs. One was left a flaming ship, the other on the stern! The Catalina crew was unable to observe if either warship sank.

The other Catalina located between ten and 12 good sized ships in a formation 50 miles southwest of Kavieng and selected the large tanker for a target. Direct hits set the tanker afire and the flames could be seen for 50 miles.

Raid Thwarted Nazi Attempt To Use Sunken French Ships

Two Other Strategic Blows Delivered Against Marseille and Turin Plants

ALGIERS, Dec. 2 (AP).—A German attempt to use scuttled French fleet units at Toulon was thwarted as United States heavy bomber raid on that big base November 24, with at least five reflloated warships sunk and five smaller ones probably sunk in "one of the most severe blows ever dealt a naval base by air attack," the 15th Air Force announced tonight.

The American Air Command disclosed these results of the Toulon raid, based on new photo reconnaissance, along with announcement of another smash against Nazi submarine warfare, a heavy bombing raid today on new U-boat installations at Marseille.

In yet another strategic blow, heavy bombers blasted and set afire the great Fiat Ball-Bearing Works at Turin in Northern Italy by daylight Wednesday, thus destroying their second attack on this key target since the third most important plant of its type in the German war machine.

It was evident from the timing of the Toulon raid that Allied airmen had been carefully watching German efforts to salvage units of the scuttled French fleet, and had struck at the right moment.

The reconnaissance photographs showed these results:

A cruiser of the 7,800-ton La Galissonniere class sunk, and now lying on its side partly submerged. This type of vessel normally carries nine six-inch guns.

Heavy British Bombers Blast Germany in Big Night Attack

Nazi Radio Says Berlin Again Target, Claim 30 Planes Down

LONDON, Dec. 3 (Friday) (AP).—The R.A.F.'s heavy bombers hammered Germany again last night, the Air Ministry announced today, and the German radio said that battered Berlin again was the target.

Neither the Air Ministry announcement nor the Nazi broadcast gave any details concerning the weight of the attack, but the Germans asserted that 30 of the raiders had been shot down, indicating that it had been carried out in great force.

Berlin had been raid free since last Friday after three massive assaults in five nights which wrecked a third of the city.

The assumption of a new attack came when a radio blackout developed on the continent early last night after R.A.F. Mitchell, Boston and Typhoons smashed at enemy targets on the Cherbourg Peninsula in daylight.

A Stockholm dispatch earlier said an alert had been sounded in Berlin, and for 30 minutes telephone communications between Stockholm and the German capital were cut.

The daylight bombers, escorted by fighters, turned out their missions without loss. Two fighters failed to land the second successive United States heavy attack on the Rhineland industrial city of Solingen and a sweep by medium bombers against the airfields in Northern France and Belgium yesterday.

Radio stations at Bruges, Calais, Fresnoy, Rivers-am and Luxembourg went off the air before 7 p.m. and (germans) long-wave transmitters followed suit at 9:30 o'clock.

The first heavy assault by the R.A.F. was the November 26 attack on Berlin.

COAL STRIKE LOOMS

PRINCETON, Dec. 2 (CP).—An agreement providing a closed shop was signed today between the United Mine Workers of America and the Coal Consumers Cooperative Association, but three other operators did not sign closed shop agreements. Failure to sign agreements with the other three operators leaves the possibility of a strike.

Strong New Nazi Counter-Attacks

MOSCOW, Dec. 2 (AP).—A German counter-attack sprang up today in the Cherkasy sector between Kiev and Dnepropetrovsk where the Red Army's latest brightened the established west of the Dnieper River.

German tank and infantry forces launched the assault in that sector of the Ukraine, field dispatches said tonight, after earlier counter-attacks farther northeast against Zhitomir and Korosten, but were finally repulsed.

Predict Allied Leaders Will Offer to Free German People

LONDON Dec. 2 (P.—A forthrights promise to give German postwar freedom from slavery under any power, however heavily she must pay for the war imposed as a possible result of the predicted conference of Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin.

The British and American leaders have gone to Iran to meet Stalin, said reports from Axis and neutral sources early today, although Radio war talks with President Chiang Kai-shek in North Africa.

Three reports said the new conference already is under way and they placed it variously in the Persian capital, Teheran in the country line of the former ruler Reza Shah Pahlavi near Teheran, and at Tabriz in Northwest Iran.

Vital decisions for defeat of Germany, abolition of Hitlerism in Europe, the future of Germany and her satellites and possibly a settlement of the differences between Poland and Russia, were forecast in these reports.

German and neutral commentators predict the conference will be followed by a proclamation from the Allied leaders to the German people calling on them to drop out of the war with a threat of intensified attacks if the war continues.

They expect a similar demand of the satellite states to withdraw their troops from the Russian front and to break their alliance with Berlin.

In the current propaganda war of nerves a pronouncement of freedom from slavery" to the German people from the "big three" designed to lay the Nazi bogey of Europe's Bolshevist invasion would not surprise the British public.

There were indications for instance, that Berlin might stand on

Four Inches of Rain in 12 Hours

VANCOUVER Dec 2 (CP).—No danger from flood has been noticed as yet in any of the streams and rivers of the Pacific Coast C. E. Webb, district chief engineer for the Dominion Water and Power Bureau reported tonight.

Rainfall in Victoria of the past 24 hours has been very heavy, as much as four inches in 12 hours being recorded at Coquitlam there has been no extreme rise in the streams and rivers of the Pacific Coast, Mr. Webb said.

This is due to the fact that we had an exceptionally dry Fall," he explained.

Rainfall in Vancouver in the 24 hours preceding 3.15 p.m today was 3.12 inches according to the official Dominion Meteorological Office at Sea Island.

RAINFALL HEAVY IN WASHINGTON

HOQUIAM, Wash., Dec. 2 (P.—Hays Harbor had the heaviest rain in six years of weather bureau history today. The downpour measured 5.91 inches for the 24 hours up to 8 p.m. The previous saturation record was 4.35 inches on Dec 1937.

An instructor and student pilot were in the aircraft. An intensive search is being made.

Take More Than 1,000 Prisoners

WITH THE EIGHTH ARMY—In the Sangro River bridgehead—By More than 1,000 shivering German prisoners have been gathered in by the Eighth Army in three days and Gen Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's men pushed on past Roccu San Giovanni today with new words of praise for their commander.

On the road road, motorized forces were leading toward San Vito and Lanciano, the latter only 10 miles away, and Montgomery's slogan remained towards this junction of two highways.

The Germans contested the British advance bitterly at some points and counter-attacked in the region west of Monogrogna. The attack was unsuccessful and was regarded as an effort to prevent the British forces from exploiting their gains too rapidly rather than attempt to regain lost ground.

In one point where 100 enemy prisoners were taken 50 Germans were found dead.

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily leader by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1943, by Business Co.)

LONDON, Dec. 2.—The Prime Ministers here, President Churchill, President Roosevelt and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, says The Times, took urgent, solitary decisions and put the finishing touches to plans for Japan's ultimate defeat.

The storm clouds are brightening behind the dam, and now the under has gone out to speed the floodgates of attack. How that attack will be engineered must remain a military secret.

But the conference was not only concerned with military planning. It settled the terms to be imposed on Japan after the surrender, and made it clear that aggression will not pass on Japan's case as in others.

Expulsion of Japanese from all conquered territories, and indemnities for Korea are among the main points. But nothing is said about about the future of mandated islands in the Pacific, that Japan has forfeited by deliberate violation of her pledge to the League of Nations.

Australia, New Zealand and The Netherlands are greatly interested in these islands for the viewpoint of future security. Though, says The Times, it is not to be supposed the British Government will allow the combined Allied forces to strike at Japan from a post-Chinese base.

At the same time, hints given about the movements of Stein, and Wavell, the large attendance of naval leaders, suggest plans were also made for the operations in Burma and opposing Japan itself to take.

However, says The Times, to defeat Japan itself empires, complete and formidable undertaking, Japan

Half of Total Loss Suffered In Tarawa Isle

PEARL HARBOR TH Dec 2 (P).—A heavy price in dead, wounded and bewilder with a hint the United States Marines underestimated Japanese Tarawa in the Gilberts was paid today in a comparison of the Marines' casualty lists.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz in a communique said the dead and Tarawa from November 20 through November 30 total 1,026 officers and enlisted men and there virtually all were marines.

The Washington casualties list from December 7 1941 through November 15—the end of Tarawa fighting—totalled 1,911. This figure included every marine action for nearly two years, from the attack on Midway Island Guadalcanal Bougainville, New Georgia and Tarawa. All these marines thus lost nearly half as many men while giving the British target of the Tarawa atoll—only 1,000 yards wide and 3,000 long—as in more than 18 months of war.

The figures also show 2,557 men wounded mostly marines at Tarawa compared with 2,048 wounded in the same 23 months in all other actions.

Further light on how well the Japanese were entrenched on Betio Island in the Tarawa atoll, 2,000 tons of bombs and naval shells were poured into the area before the landings preliminary to an accompanying marine land assault.

Opening Sea Route to China; Philippine Freedom Planned

Relieve Cairo Conference Already Agreed on Strategy for Pacific

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP).—The Cairo conference is believed here to have agreed on a high strategy against Japan that envisages the prompt freeing of the Philippines and opening a sea route to China.

Over this route the United States and British probably must arrange to ship more than 1,000,000 tons of supplies a month by plane or to maintain and operate a minimum offensive force of as much as 100,000 men and that would allow only a force of only 200 bombers and 400 fighters, Pacific experts said. Such forces would require another 1,000,000 tons of shipping a month to cover the thousands of miles of the route.

Yet until this route can be established and an army is actually landed from China American and British forces in the Pacific can be on final grand offensive against Japan proper.

Developing this theme at his press conference today War Secretary Henry Stimson, after declining to mind the Cairo meeting said he looked for an offensive to open against Japan but warned that the horrapest of enemy-held territory would be long and expensive.

It is characteristic of the interdependent nature of the war in the Pacific and the war in Europe as dramatized in the successive conferences of Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt with President Chiang Kai-Shek and Marshal Stalin—that there can be no plan for preparing for a victory over

Says Stalin To Confer At Tabriz

Report From Turkey, Berlin Names Place

LONDON, Dec. 2 (CP).—A Reuter's News Agency dispatch from Istanbul, Turkey, tonight said reports have reached Turkey that Premier Joseph Stalin of Russia is at Tabriz, in the Russian-occupied zone of Iran, waiting for Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt. These reports said Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt are in Cairo by air Wednesday.

The Istanbul newspaper Cumhuriyet commented "It is certain that the Allies still make an unconditional surrender appeal to the Germans. The three statesmen must therefore take a decision in the form of German Government with whom they will be prepared to negotiate."

GERMANY ALL OUT ON PROPAGANDA

LONDON, Dec. 2 (P.—German propagandists galloped in all directions today seeking to counteract the effect of the Big Three Allied conference describing it both as an "empire" conference and as a conference of nerves.

One British broadcast called the Cairo communique "grotesque" and a sheer "propaganda trick to divert attention from Allied failures in the Pacific Another reported preparations for a conference of Prime Minister Churchill President Roosevelt and Premier Joseph Stalin near Teheran, Persia, and declared the Allies are about to launch a war of nerves.

The Berlin broadcasts called the Cairo conference "a propaganda trick" and fantastic" and declared primarily to appease President Chiang Kai-Shek.

D.N.B. A gigantic propaganda campaign will be launched in the Teheran meeting. The aim of the campaign will be to persuade the German people from its leaders and also to influence neutral states to give up their present policies.

Declares Dominions Restive Under Centralized Control

LONDON, Dec. 2 (CP).—Abolition of some units of the Empire's colonial system and grouping of others "to tidy up the show," with the Dominions playing a larger role in the colonies' guardianship, has been suggested by Prime Minister Jan Christiaan Smuts of South Africa.

Smuts' speech, in which he also proposed that Britain strengthen [illegible] Europe lest she become a weak and unequal partner in the "great trinity of powers"—Britain, the United States and Russia—was made on November 25 to the United Kingdom branch of the Empire Parliamentary Association but was released for publication only today.

Meantime, coincident with this release, the House of Commons also discussed the Empire—its future and means of closer collaboration among its members after the war.

Smuts told the association that people in the Crown colonies were "very critical and restive" under the system centralized in London.

Developing his theme for centralizing groups of colonies and territories, he cited, for example, the possible grouping into larger units of West Africa, East Africa and Southern Africa, each under a governor-general, and abolition of some territories "that need not continue to enjoy a separate existence."

BRING NEW GROUPS CLOSER TOGETHER

The new groups would be brought closer to regional dominions, thus bringing to bear on colonial groups the experience, resources and leadership of the dominions.

"In this way," he said, "instead of the dominions having little or nothing to do with the Empire and taking very little interest in it, these regional dominions will become sharers and partners in the Empire . . . You will create fresh links between the Empire and Commonwealth and create new interest and life in the system as a whole."

Reiterating a view expressed by Prime Minister John Curtin of Australia, which was discussed during the Commons debate, Smuts suggested that a new link between Britain and other parts of the Empire perhaps could be best introduced "by a system of regional conferences which would include both the local dominion and regional group of the area concerned."

The Commons debate was initiated on an amendment to the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne regretting that an imperial conference had not yet been arranged. The amendment, moved by Sir Alfred Beit, Conservative, was withdrawn when the House adjourned after the debate.

Both Sir Alfred Beit and Sir Geoffrey Shakespeare, a former parliamentary undersecretary to the Dominions Office, endorsed the idea of Empire regional councils.

"Britain no longer can shoulder the burden of globular Empire defence," Sir Alfred said in moving the amendment. "Canada will finish the war with the world's fourth largest air force, if not the fourth armed power, and it is quite clear she must be prepared to take her share of responsibility in maintaining the peace of the Atlantic and Pacific."

AMBITIOUS SCHEME OF IMMIGRATION

Calling for an ambitious scheme of immigration, he said immigrants to the Dominions have come from European countries since Britain could not supply the vast populations needed.

Replying for the Government, P. V. Emrys-Evans, Dominions Undersecretary, said it was clear that the dominions required a different kind of settler than in the past—skilled laborers to develop secondary industries instead of agricultural emigrant.

Emrys-Evans detailed the part the dominions are playing in the war and said Canada's financial contributions relieved the British taxpayer of nearly £1,000,000 (about $4,500,000) a day.

On the general question of Empire consultation, he suggested one way to improve the system might be annual meetings of ministers of external affairs. He said they might "possibly meet once a year before meetings of the new international organization which it is contemplated will be set up after the war."

Calling an imperial conference was impossible in wartime, he said, but the Government had attempted to call a meeting of the prime ministers. It had not yet been possible to arrange such a gathering but "it is very much hoped it will be possible to do so in the not too far distant future."

Clement Attlee, Lord President of the Council and a former Dominions Secretary, said he favored frequent informal discussions between British and dominions representatives in preference to regularly scheduled conferences.

Leaps to Death With Young Sons

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP).—A young mother, depressed because the war had taken her first and second husbands from her, police said, plunged with her two sons to death from a 15-story hotel window today.

The three bodies, found crumpled on a one-story extension of the Henry Hudson Hotel, were identified as those of Mrs. Mary Lindsay Tomlinson, 34, and Michael Hiddingh, 8, and John Hiddingh, 6, sons by her first marriage.

Guy Hiddingh, her first husband, was killed in action with British forces in Africa, the police reported.

Two months ago she found new happiness when she became the wife of F.O. David Tomlinson, of the Royal Air Force.

Then duty called Tomlinson to England. Detective Edward Houlihan said she became despondent when she and her children could not accompany him.

Mrs. Tomlinson and the boys had been living with relatives at Islip, N.Y., until Monday. She registered at the hotel yesterday.

side of the Meyer's car was torn off, and the force of the impact dislodged the truck for 21 feet. The damaged car, police report, came to a stop about 68 feet from the scene of the crash.

Four of the injured persons were extricated from the wrecked car, while Hollisten was picked up on the road, police state. The driver of the automobile escaped injury. Wreckage and broken glass were strewn on the street.

Later in the evening Dr. S. Janowsky reported that the three women had been discharged from hospital to their homes, but Ken Bovair and Len Hollisten, more seriously injured, were detained at the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

INJURED IN COLLISION WITH ARMY TRUCK

Arthur P. Jones, Midwood Road, escaped with minor cuts, following a collision at 6.05 p.m. between his automobile and an Army truck. Saanich police summoned to the scene of the accident at Gorge Road and Inlet Avenue, reported that the vehicles came together head-on, with the result that the front of the Jones' car was badly damaged. No damage was reported to the truck.

Saanich police took Jones to the City Police Station and rendered first aid after which they took him to his home.

Third accident of the evening was at Quadra and Bay Streets when Lt. Sanders, R.C.R.C., Willows Camp, who was riding a motorcycle, was in collision with an Army truck driven by Pte. P. Peters, A.V.T.S., Topaz Avenue. The mishap was at 6.11 o'clock. No one was injured.

SESSION DATE SET

QUEBEC, Dec. 2 (CP).—The next session of the Quebec Provincial Legislature will be convened Tuesday, January 18, it was announced tonight by Premier Godbout.

The announcement setting the date for the opening of the Legislature—the fifth and last session of the 21st Quebec Bi-Cameral House—was made by Premier Godbout following the third Cabinet meeting in two days.

The Godbout Government held its first session in 1940 after election in November, 1939.

Candidates Favor Postwar Projects

Advocating abolition of the ward system, and dropping of the Elk Lake water project, together with a planned postwar building programme, candidates in the coming Saanich municipal election spoke last night at a meeting of Saanich ratepayers held in the Hard-of-Hearing Hall and presided over by [illegible] ratepayers association.

L. H. Passmore, aspiring to the reeveship, also criticized the present assessment scheme as unfair, and said he would favor having the building inspector appointed as a full-time assessor permanently.

Mr. Passmore pledged his support to Mrs. E. M. Bryce and Martin Nielson, candidates for re-election to the board.

Also a candidate for reeve, John Watson criticized what he termed as insufficient reports of "what is being done with the taxpayers money."

TOWN PLANNING PROJECTS PLANNED

Town planning and the encouragement of large industries, "so that our young people can earn their living right here in the best country to live in," was strongly urged by Councillor K. W. Richmond, up for re-election in Ward 7.

"I do approve of building new schools, but not immediately," Mr. Richmond said. "People in Britain have had to put up with serious overcrowding and great nerve strain. We will have to do the same. We must think of the 60,000 British Columbia men who have gone overseas and double that number of war workers who will need work after the war."

Walter V. Peddle, running for councillor in Ward One, urged that the people be allowed to vote on major questions, wherever popular demand existed. Working without benefit of wards would be more economical and would mean better roads.

Robert Noble, candidate in Ward Two, claimed that a gang of roadmen working together would accomplish more in permanent road-building than the present set-up of an allocation for each ward. He also advocated more technical education.

George Hardy urged co-operation with the school board, and that councillors should go to ratepayers' meetings in order to inform them of council business.

Bert Waude, running for the school board, said education was of prime importance, and praised the work of the outgoing school board. The appointment of John Gough as full-time municipal inspector had been a splendid move. He urged more technical training, more attention to hygiene education and athletics.

Mrs. Francine Paterson, candidate for re-election to the school board, said it would be easier and more economical for Saanich if the outer wards were allowed to secede. She urged that schools be built to accommodate pupils up to Grade III near their homes.

Oak Bay Liberals Re-elect Officers

Holt and Dr. W. E. J. Akins.

President J. V. Johnson, Secretary H. H. Hollins, Col. W. Winsby and J. D. Fraser were appointed delegates to the central executive.

R. W. Mayhew, M.P., the guest speaker, was indisposed and unable to attend.

Daughter of Early B.C. Premier Dead

BATH, England, Dec. 2 (CP).—Viscountess Churchill, wife of the second Viscount Churchill and daughter of the late Hon. Robert Beaven, Premier of British Columbia in 1882-83, was found dead during the night in the house in Bath where she lived alone.

Authorities said a neighbor who found her had smelled gas in the room. An inquest will be held.

The former Kathleen Beaven, she married Lord Churchill in 1914. Her husband is a distant relative of Prime Minister Churchill, having with him a common ancestor in the fourth Duke of Marlborough.

Delegation Asks Minister For Nursery Schools Here

PLEA that funds be supplied for the establishment of nursery schools in Victoria for the care of pre-school age children, whose mothers are replacing men in industry, was made yesterday to Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, by representatives of ten social agencies of the city.

Mr. Pearson said he sympathised with the object and promised to take [illegible] need for nursery schools could be demonstrated with facts and figures. He recommended a survey of the Greater Victoria area.

Presenting the petition backed by the ten organizations, Miss Violet E. Asndown, principal of the Victoria Nursery School, said large numbers of Victoria women were working outside their homes, in the place of men who were in uniform, and "it is obvious that in most cases their pre-school-age children are not receiving proper care and attention."

"We therefore urge that provision for setting up nursery schools here be facilitated, and think that grants available on a broader basis would greatly help.

"We are of the opinion that these grants should be made to include schools for children of mothers who are working as a result of the wartime shortage of manpower, but not necessarily strictly in war industries."

Mrs. A. I. Spurgeon, of the Council of Social Agencies, said nursery schools would be to the advantage of all children of all mothers. Mrs. Hooton, representing the mothers of James Bay Wartime Housing Centre, stated that lay-offs in the shipyards had made it necessary for many mothers to supplement the family income by going to work at whatever they could find, and the need in that district was far greater than [illegible]

SAYS REAL NEED FOR ORGANIZATION

Speaking for the Trades and Labor Council, H. Yetman told the minister that there was a real need for organized care of children of school age also. Lunches should be provided for them and supervision after school hours.

It was also pointed out that in a survey of homes in three blocks near Spring Ridge School, 75 pre-school-age children, whose mothers worked, were found. All delegates asked Mr. Pearson to press the Federal authorities for an enlargement of the definition of a "war-working mother" to include any women who were taking men's jobs. As the Federal definition now stood many mothers were doing essential work who did not come under the term.

Others in the delegation which conferred with Mr. Pearson for over an hour were: Mrs. M. W. Dawson, Parent-Teacher Association; Mrs. W. Redford, Mothers' Union and Fellowship of Marriage; George Wilkinson, H. Yetman and A. C. Bull, Joint-Labor Conference; Mrs. G. E. Bennett, C.C.F. Party; Mrs. C. L. Frankham, Labor-Progressive Party; Miss E. Keeling and Mrs. Hooton, Mothers in Esquimalt and James Bay Wartime Housing Districts; Miss Margaret Clay, Business and Professional Women's Club; Mrs. A. I. Spurgeon, Council of Social Agencies, and Mrs. Clare McAllister, University Women's Club.

Germany Bombed

raid-free nights—worked wearily among the ruins.

The Germans tried a daylight raid against Britain but coastal guns shot down one of two attacking planes.

It was one of the largest German planes seen over England in daylight in more than a year. The new fighter-bombers the Germans are using for night raids are two-seated planes and are regarded as mediocre imitations of Britain's famous Mosquito.

Another Nazi raider dropped bombs in open country near a south-east coastal town and fled at low level from machine-gunning fighters.

Thousands of shops were reported destroyed or damaged in Berlin as a result of the recent Allied poundings with some shop owners displaying their wares on tables in the streets and others using automobiles to sell their goods.

Many banks were opening temporary quarters but postal service was in complete confusion with tens of thousands of persons moving to new addresses, a Swedish correspondent said. Householders were allowed one new glass window for the kitchen and one additional room, with the requirement that all other windows must be sealed with other material.

Only a few bus and street car lines were said to be operating, with long lines of people constantly forming outside the subways which provide virtually the only means of getting around the shattered city.

WRITER FOUND DEAD

FRESNO, Cal., Dec. 2 (AP).—Aroline von Tempski, 44, writer and lecturer, was found dead in her hotel room today. Deputy Coroner L. R. Webb said she died of a heart attack.

ALGIERS, Dec. 2 (AP).—Working with discarded and bomb-damaged equipment, soldiers of the United States Army's railway service have constructed a 15-car hospital train for use in evacuating wounded from the Italian front. A company constructed the train in its spare time although the unit was operating on a 24-hour work schedule. The men searched bombed railway yards for usable pieces of equipment.

killed 200 Japanese in a night attack.

Enemy arms, ammunition and supplies were destroyed in this raid.

On the Huon Peninsula Australians attacked the Japanese inland jungle position of Wareo, northwest of Finschhafen, from three sides after seizing the Bona River bridge.

More than 200 miles to the northwest heavy bombers dropped 111 tons of bombs on supply dumps at Wewak. Ten enemy interceptors were downed. Two of the bombers were lost to anti-aircraft fire.

On the western end of New Britain Island, just east of Cape Gloucester, Allied planes hit Borgen Bay with 54 tons of explosives.

In support of the Bougainville land forces other planes struck the Buin-Faisi region on the south coast with 44 tons, destroying gun positions, ammunition and 21 buildings.

Bracken Tells How "Leak" in Conference News Developed

LONDON, Dec. 2 (AP).—Angry recriminations, official and unofficial, flew both ways across the Atlantic today over the handling of the news of the North African conference, bringing an official British statement that something ought to be done, but with the suggestion that this "something" would be more censorship.

Against a background of bitter [illegible] protests from the British press and official representations from Washington, Information Minister Brendan Bracken appeared before the House of Commons to explain the censorship set-up which enabled all the world except Britain to hear, through Reuter's News Agency, about the conference 24 hours before the formal announcement.

Bracken, who heads the Ministry of Information and the overseas B.B.C., said the B.B.C. made a pre-announcement broadcast to Europe based on Reuter's Lisbon dispatch—the same dispatch that brought a protest from Elmer Davis, head of the United States Office of War Information.

The Lisbon dispatch was published elsewhere, but not in Britain because of a rule permitting transit of news from other countries through London but prohibiting its use in Britain if it violates the British censorship.

"Something must be done about these conferences," Bracken said. "In my opinion they ought to be absolutely security conferences in the future."

From newsmen in the vicinity of the conference came protests over the straitjacket restrictions which barred them from seeing the principals of the conference, and resulted in their unceremonious ejection from a Thanksgiving [illegible] church service.

REUTER'S ANSWERS AMERICAN PRESS

Reuter's New York office issued the following statement Thursday:

"It had been widely stated in the American Press, and by Mr. Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, that the official communique issued in Washington about the Cairo conference—and the embargo that accompanied it—was available to the press at the time Reuter's circulated its unofficial Lisbon dispatch.

"As a matter of factual accuracy, Reuter's wishes to state that this is incorrect.

"The Reuter's story was received and distributed over its American wire service at 10.59 a.m. on Tuesday, November 30, 1943. It was thus available at that time to its subscribers in the United States.

"The official Washington communique was handed out at a White House conference which began at 11.01 a.m. the same day and concluded—according to a White House official—at 'some moment between 11.15 and 11.20 a.m.'"

LODGE COMPLAINT WITH BRITAIN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP).—American editors formally protested to the White House tonight and the director of United States War Information lodged a complaint with the British Government over the handling of the news of the Cairo tri-power conference.

Both complaints criticized Reuter's, British news agency. Reuter's sprang part of the story out of Lisbon, Portugal, and for more than 24 hours thereafter other editors with the full official communique in hand were pledged to secrecy on it.

Roy A. Roberts, managing editor of The Kansas City Star and president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, wired the White House and O.W.I.:

"I am entering an earnest protest against the manner in which the release of the Cairo conference was handled and especially against the treatment accorded the ac[illegible]ents assigned to this important story.

"The whole episode hurts the war effort. Our war correspondents have too fine a record of devotion and sacrifice in this war in keeping the public at home informed to be brushed off as they were.

"The breaking of faith, if not the release, by Reuter's destroyed much of the effect of what should have been one of the epochal high spots of the war."

May Streamline Coast Artillery

All reserve army artillery units on the Coast will switch in the near future to anti-aircraft guns or to field guns of the most modern type, according to reports credited to a reliable source.

According to the predicted plan the 201st and 202nd Batteries of the 29th Field Regiment in Vancouver will be converted to anti-aircraft, and the 203rd Battery of the same regiment in Victoria will be equipped either with 25-pounder gun-howitzers or with Bofors anti-aircraft guns of the latest type. The latter are reported already on the Coast ready for assignment to the 203rd.

This word is in line with the statement made recently in Vancouver by Major-General Phelan, director-general of the Canadian Reserve Army, that changes in the status of the Canadian active forces stationed on the Pacific Coast had the effect of increasing the importance of reserve army units in British Columbia.

The 203rd Battery is reported to be anxious to recruit immediately up to or over full strength in order fully to discharge the added responsibility placed upon it. The battery office at Bay Street Armoury will be open to receive applicants daily from 9 to 12 in the morning and 1:30 to 5 in the afternoon, except Saturday afternoon, and on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings at 9 o'clock. Japan until victory has been won in Europe.

This suggests that the purpose of holding the two conferences so close together was to integrate, at least in general terms, a global rather than a European or a Pacific strategy.

THREAT FROM RUSSIA HOLDING JAPANESE

After two years Russia still is the great mystery of the Pacific-Asiatic war. The mere threat of her strength holds huge Japanese forces immobilized in Manchuria.

Should she some day become actively involved, the strategy for beating Japan probably would change overnight to provide an immediate aerial offensive from Russian bases.

Present plans for defeating Japan must be focused on China.

As military men here explain the situation, there are three main routes for approaching the enemy's main islands from the American side of the Pacific. One is the westward route upon which Admiral Chester W. Nimitz set his Pacific Fleet last month in the invasion of the Gilbert Islands. Another is the northward march of General Douglas MacArthur's forces. The third is the southwest route from the tip of the Aleutians into the Kuriles.

None of these routes leads to islands sufficiently large and close to Japan to serve as bases for a strategic bombing offensive. The bases already captured in the Gilberts and Solomons therefore and those to be captured from there to the Philippines are first, supporting points for each new advance and, second, links in a chain of supply pointed toward the Philippines.

On the British-India side of Asia there are two routes toward Japan, both under command of Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten. One is the Burma Road way through China; the other is the Singapore approach to the South China Sea and—again—to the Philippines and the China coast.

There is little doubt in informed quarters that Cairo-approved strategy calls for operating on both routes. Undoubtedly Admiral Mountbatten's main effort will be an amphibious campaign against Malaya-Singapore-Sumatra, a long and arduous job.

The War Today—

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst.

Put on the alert by the North African conference which passed death sentence upon Japan, world attention is now focussed upon the more immediate results expected to flow from the long-awaited personal meeting of Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin.

Military decisions of the trio, already made or being shaped, mean intensified war upon Germany now, not at some remote future time. Twin crises are developing now for battered Nazi armies in Russia and in Italy to match that on the roofless and bomb-blasted Nazi home front.

The opportunity for concerted action to turn Nazi two-front retreats into disastrous routs and lop months off the duration of the war in Europe is clearly depicted in current bulletins from the fighting fronts. It cannot be ignored by the super war council. Time is of the essence in the problem confronting the triumvirate of Allied war captains, and it waits on no man.

Here is the situation on the southern and eastern flanks of Nazidom:

In Italy Eighth Army veterans have crashed through to seize the heights of the Sangro. The Nazi left wing is officially reported in precipitate retreat after heavy losses, unhinging the desperately defended German Winter front of Rome.

There is evidence that their Fifth Army Allied comrades now are striking at the Cassino portals of a valley route to Rome.

In Russia the Red Army drive that started a year ago on the Volga was being slowed west of the Dnieper but not halted.

And unless the Germans can stop the Russian advance a new continent-wide retreat from Russia must ensue. That, too, as another Russian Winter moves into action across the whole battle line.

The Russian offensive in the Kiev sector thus will be resumed under conditions of Winter manoeuvre in which the Red Army has always outmatched its foes. That it will come against Nazi troops exhausted after two weeks and more of costly counter-attack which has regained Zhitomir and Korosten, but nowhere broken through the Russian defence front in the rough country east of those points, seems certain.

That must force upon the Nazi high command a prompt decision to retreat from all Southwestern Russia before it is too late, or risk a Russian break-through to slice off the whole south flank of the line.

There will be no announcement of (Anglo-American-Russian) military decisions to capitalize on the Nazi plight in Italy and Russia until events at the fronts disclose them. It is inconceivable, however, that the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin meetings, coming at so critical a moment for the common enemy will not turn up ways and means of intensifying the attack everywhere.

Stalin in Iran

Stumm, revealed the preoccupation of Nazi leaders with the danger of such an Allied appeal.

"Germany is proof against all siren songs," he insisted.

While predominantly occupied with assailing such an expected appeal the Nazi propagandists found space for various versions of what is going on around Teheran.

A broadcast by the International Information Bureau quoted Turkish diplomatic circles as saying the three war leaders' talks would be held "in the country seat of the former Shah Reza Shah Palevi" near Teheran. This villa "lies nearer to the Russian frontier," it explained.

This broadcast added that "frequently one meets with the opinion that one of the results of the conference will be increased Allied pressure on Turkey." Roosevelt is said to be the principal driving power behind the Allies' efforts to bring Turkey into the war.

The German overseas radio quoting a Foreign Office spokesman, said "Stalin is already supposed to be in Teheran—he will obviously play the part of host."

paign. At 10-minute intervals waves of planes swept over German emplacements and other defence works and smashed them into heaps of rubble.

The Berlin radio in a broadcast recorded by The Associated Press said the Fifth Army had launched large scale attacks supported at the coastal end of three destroyers. The broadcast added that strong American units had succeeded in penetrating the German defence system at Scapoli, a village about three and a half miles northwest of Colli al Vulturno in the centre of the line. Colli al Volturno, about five miles due west of Isernia, is the last reported American position in that area.

Apparently anticipating an advance by the Fifth Army, the Germans launched two sharp counter-attacks in the Filignano area about four miles north of Venafro and another southwest of Mignano, which is about six miles southwest of Venafro, but the Allied Command reported both were completely repulsed.

CHIMNEY FIRE

City firemen were called out at 10.34 o'clock last night to extinguish a chimney fire at 1300 Johnson Street. No damage resulted.

Search Continues For Young Hunter

SEARCH for Kenneth Duncan, 21-year-old Victoria shipyard worker, missing since last Saturday in the thickly-wooded area between Shawnigan Lake and Koksilah Ridge, will continue today, British Columbia Police at Duncan stated last night. The young hunter was last seen by his companions at [illegible] o'clock last Saturday, and since his disappearance searching parties have been constantly on the lookout for him. Today will mark the sixth straight day that large posses have combed the woods in hopes of finding the missing man.

Liquor Bill Highest Yet

OTTAWA, Dec. 2 (CP).—Canadian consumption of spirits, malt liquors and wines is estimated to have reached a new high point in the year ended March 31, 1943, and the Dominion Government's revenue from such beverages now is three times greater than at the outbreak of war, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported tonight.

Reports for the eight provinces in which liquor control boards operate showed revenues to have reached the highest point on record. Prince Edward Island has prohibition.

The bureau estimated that in the year ended March 31, 1943, Canadians consumed 4,903,023 proof gallons of spirits, compared with 4,349,440 in the previous year and 2,433,664 in the fiscal year of 1939.

Estimated consumption of malt liquors for the past year was 97,610,326 gallons against 89,506,475 the previous year and 63,302,752 in 1939. For wine the consumption for 1942-43 was estimated at 4,367,567 gallons, compared with 4,187,243 gallons in 1941-42 and 3,461,867 gallons in 1939.

Total Dominion revenue from the manufacture and sale of liquor, exclusive of sales tax, during the fiscal year 1943 was $80,952,000 against $60,710,000 in 1942 and $25,669,000 in 1939. The revenue is made up of excise duties, excise taxes, excise duties on malt and customs duties.

The production of spirits, including unmatured spirits, for the fiscal year of 1943 was reported by the bureau as the largest in many years," totaling more than 19,000,000 proof gallons. For the previous year it was 17,569,476 and for 1939 9,642,830.

Production of malt liquors was 108,980,613 against 100,081,682 in the previous year and 63,331,620 in 1939.

Wines produced during 1941, the most recent year for which figures were given, but placed in storage for maturing, totaled 4,841,000 gallons, and the amount of fermented wine bottled or sold in bulk during that year was 4,189,000 gallons. This was slightly less than in 1940, but exceeded previous years with the exception of 1929 and 1930.

Gross sales of Provincial Liquor Control Boards with net revenue in brackets, for the most recent fiscal year was: Nova Scotia, $15,136,831 ($4,885,365); New Brunswick, $8,070,651 ($2,950,957); Quebec, $24,645,117 ($9,474,417); Ontario, $33,035,844 ($15,068,065) (this was supplemented by sales of $45,547,177 from breweries and brewers' warehouses and $2,903,584 from native wine sales offices); Manitoba, $9,983,323 ($2,740,498); Saskatchewan $10,094,457 ($2,407,066); Alberta, $13,197,921 ($3,897,175); British Columbia, $20,969,955 ($5,928,444).

Board Prosecutes Price Violators

Enforcement administration, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, reports that from September 1, 1939, to October 21, 1943, there were 5,760 prosecutions. Of the accused persons and firms 340 were acquitted and 5,420 convicted. Convictions were therefore 94 per cent.

A breakdown shows 1,790 prosecutions for violations of the price ceilings; 1,239 dealing with rents; 723 for breaches of ration regulations and 485 to other categories.

Under wartime industries control there were 974 prosecutions dealing with gasoline, 403 with tires, 140 in other categories and 19 brought by the meat board.

In the Western provinces there were 302 prosecutions in British Columbia, 255 in Alberta and 440 in Saskatchewan.

CUNNINGHAM PROMOTED

LONDON, Dec. 2 (CP).—Promotion of Lt.-Col. D. B. (Ben) Cunningham of Kingston, Ont., who won the D.S.O. as a brigade major of an infantry brigade at Dieppe August 19, 1942, to the rank of acting brigadier was announced tonight by Canadian military headquarters. Brig. Cunningham, 25, will command an infantry brigade.

RECTAL SORENESS AND
PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY RELIEVED
If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.
For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from the Modern Pharmacy or Cunningham Drug Stores or any druggist and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore, tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.
If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money. (Advt.)

Weather Recording Machine Found in Woods Near Duncan

DUNCAN, Dec. 2 — A United States weather recording machine was picked up yesterday in the woods near Crofton and turned over to the Provincial Police office at Duncan.

The machine, according to data attached to the casing, was released at 23 o'clock, July 31, 1934, at Tatoosh, Washington. In the opinion of those who examined it here, the instrument was sent aloft by means of a small balloon which was set to burst at a height of about 12 miles, then to descend slowly on a parachute.

Weighing scarcely half a pound, including batteries and mechanism, the instrument is designed to function in the air as a radio, broadcasting the temperature, pressure and moisture content of the air through which it passes.

The device found here is believed to have considerable reclaimable value, and there is said to be a standing reward for its return to a United States Weather Bureau station. The machine now held at Duncan will be sent to the weather bureau at Spokane.

Dr. William Burton, superintendent of the Dominion Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales [illegible] could be substantially correct. Instruments of this type described were used in Canada, Russia and Belgium as far back as 1932, but had since been replaced by more modern apparatus.

It was possible, too, Dr. Burton thought, that the Tatoosh date, July 31, 1934 (not 1943) was correct, much depending upon the care with which the recording instrument was prepared for its release, and the degree of exposure to which it was subjected prior to its recovery in British Columbia.

Three Days Off At Christmas

Monday, December 27, will be proclaimed a holiday by the Provincial Government, and if any firms desire to operate on that day it will be necessary for them to obtain a permit from H. Douglas, Factories Inspector, Vancouver. Further regulations announced by Adam Bell, chairman of the Board of Industrial Relations, permit four hours overtime in stores of Greater Victoria and Greater Vancouver.

Hours and wages for employees in the mercantile industry during the Christmas season are governed by the special regulations issued by Mr. Bell.

In Greater Victoria and Greater Vancouver employees may work two hours overtime on Thursday, December 23, as most merchants in those cities intend keeping the stores open somewhat later on that day and closing at the usual time on Christmas Eve. Provision is made for two hours overtime for Saturday, December 18.

In the rest of the province apart from Victoria and Vancouver, merchants are given a choice of working their employees two hours extra on either the 23rd or 24th. Provision is also made for three hours overtime on the Saturday preceding Christmas, with a special view of meeting the needs of rural communities.

In all cases the weekly limit of hours must not exceed 49. A rate of time and one-half the employees' regular rate of pay is prescribed for overtime in excess of the regular daily hours.

The usual weekly minimum wage will apply to temporary employees engaged for the Christmas trade who work on a full time basis, but part time workers of both sexes of any age receive not less than 35 cents per hour.

The regulations are effective from December 2 to 31, inclusive.

Weatherman Kept Very Busy Lately

The weather man is an extremely busy man nowadays, but his business is not to supply civilians planning a picnic with forecasts. "Weather information is more important than ever before particularly from a military standpoint," D. C. Archibald, Western supervisor of the meteorological service, said in an interview last night at the Empress Hotel.

"We certainly have plenty to do," he said, "and with the heavy demand made upon our service it is very difficult to get trained personnel." Only a limited number of the specially trained men essential to this highly-specialized profession are available though those who enter it "usually stick pretty closely to the work."

When the weather man again becomes news to the general public, they should be able to trust his predictions, Mr. Archibald says.

"We may look forward to more precise weather forecasting in the future. This is due to more intensive study given meteorological work and to expansion of the service.

"Great impetus has been given by the requirements of aviation," he stated. "Actually, however, the air ocean is quite different from the seven seas, and a direct comparison cannot be made. World weather charts were made up before the war," Mr. Archibald explained, "but the necessity of war has added much to the weather man's knowledge."

A frequent visitor to Victoria, Mr. Archibald has been in the business of weather forecasting, "synoptic meteorology" since 1930, and is at present stationed in Toronto.

Spotting the Factories

It has been very quietly done, but for some months past experts in charge of the Bomber Command in Great Britain have been picking out chemical plants in Germany and German-occupied lands for special attention in Allied air attacks both by night and by day. Plants capable of producing materials for the manufacture of poison gas have been spotted and visited time after time during the Summer and Autumn seasons, and to such an extent that the campaign must obviously have been planned.

Although the results are not announced, reconnaissance machines have followed the bombing attacks, and the Air Ministry no doubt knows which factories have been gutted and rendered useless, and which are still operating. From the care and attention given to such targets and the persistence with which they have been followed up, it is clear that Germany's possible resort to chemical warfare, either out of desperation or sheer revenge, has been at least anticipated, and in part nullified at its source—the factory end.

In one week last month six heavy raids were made by British and United States aircraft on German chemical works, dotted at widely separated localities from the Netherlands to Southwestern Germany. In each case the plant and buildings were wrecked and such damage done that the removal or restoration of the plant has been rendered extremely unlikely for a considerable time to come. What percentage of all chemical works in enemy hands has been demolished has not been announced, but it must by now be considerable. Nor can Germany render herself immune from such attacks.

Progress in Italy

Steady progress by Allied troops on the attack in Italy, together with the capture of Sangro Ridge by the British Eighth Army on the right, leaves no doubt that what is intended is the ejection of the Germans from their prepared positions south and east of Rome. The advance of the Eighth Army on the Adriatic coast, supported by the advance of the U.S. Fifth Army in the centre, has jeopardized the enemy's hold east of the mountains, and repeated German counter attacks show what importance the enemy attached to Sangro Ridge.

A feature of the fighting in which 1,000 German prisoners have already been taken, is the degree of air cover being afforded to our troops. Successive waves of medium and light bombers, and 50 formations of fighter planes, have covered the advance and swept German defences with a gruelling burst of fire. The bomb-shattered nerves of the prisoners indicate both the fury of this attack and its immediate effect upon the enemy. What is at stake is the German anchor point at Pescara, on the Adriatic coast. If that falls into Allied hands, the whole of the German line will have been outflanked.

As this attack, a full scale one and no dress rehearsal, is part of the shape of things to come in Europe, it is interesting to note that tanks are playing only a very small part in the proceedings. Massed cannon fire opened the attack. Engineers and infantry went into the breach torn open by shelling and bombing. Planes and infantry widened and lengthened the advance. Artillery was brought forward ever to new positions to repeat the process. And by these means the Allies are forcing the Germans out of one of the strongest of their prepared defences in Italy, where mountains were their allies. The air blows, launched from Foggia, have been among the most deadly of the war.

Propaganda

A noticeable and significant change is to be found in current German propaganda. Whereas a year ago it sought to influence the outside world with concoctions and more or less told the truth at home, now the reverse is more nearly true. The Germans have taken to telling the truth at some points where the world has the answers, and the concoctions are being reserved for home consumption. In other words the German propagandists have found it increasingly necessary to work upon German morale.

For quite some time now both Germany and Japan have been lying to their people about the actual events of the war. If, on Germany's part, there was no way of disguising the effects of Allied bombing on the Reich, the German people were told that Germany had secret weapons, and that Britain would be made to pay. They were led to expect almost daily a reversal of German fortunes on the Eastern Front, and in the Mediterranean the capture of Kos, Leros and Samos were held up as Teuton initiative in that theatre.

Japan, similarly, has acquainted her people with nothing but "victories" in the Pacific. She has never conceded the loss of the Solomons, nor of other island outposts in the southwestern sea. Her losses have been concealed from the people, and Allied losses viewed through a magnifying glass of considerable range and power. And in both countries anyone who listens to outside broadcasts on the radio has been quietly, and most often permanently, removed. German and Japanese reaction to the Cairo Conference is a case in point, and propagandist concoctions for home consumption are being manufactured thick and fast. There could be no more revealing symptom on the part of the enemy than this tacit admission that doubt has entered by the front door.

A Wartime Priority

The description of Santa Claus as non-essential in wartime Canada—and worse, his classification as a C3 individual in our manpower—is one of those dull and unimaginative actions known to bureaucracy, but never to the heart of a child. The children are instinctively right in this, as they are in so many other matters affecting human relations. For the sober truth is that never was the kindly old gentleman more necessary in his mysterious and beneficent operations than he will be this Christmas in a war-torn world.

We will ask all of the manpower authorities in Canada, from the Prime Minister down, if Santa Claus is removed who will do his work? Are there no toys to be replaced and no small hearts to be comforted? Has something happened to the chimneys of this land? Is holly to glow red with its clustered berries merely as an adornment for some vacant garden? What of the mistletoe? Have we no room left to hang it up? What of the human heart, has it no more need of the kindly spirit of Christmas? There could be nowhere a more preposterous presumption.

Never before in our times has genial old Saint Nicholas had a greater mission in the world than at this Christmastide. Never before has human neglect left greater rents and tears in the human fabric. Never before have there been so many young people to be comforted, or so many people who perhaps are no longer young. That, as the world knows, is work for Saint Nicholas. That no doubt is why chimneys were built and sleigh bells invented. That is why Christmas still signifies the hope and the light of the world, and only the more so because this is wartime. We might as well ask are Prime Ministers necessary? Santa Claus is a priority in 1943!

Navy League Drive

One of the earliest branches of the Navy League in Canada, the Victoria unit of the organization is approaching the public this week in a membership drive. The objects of the Navy League are well known, and should need no introduction in this community. For several decades the League has been a pillar of strength behind the Royal Canadian Navy, and in this war its services have been beyond all praise. The object of the present campaign is to increase that service to the men who are at sea for us in the navy and in the merchant marine.

Canada's position at sea has changed materially during the progress of this war. A considerable naval establishment in men and ships has been built up and will play its part in the peace when it comes. From the training of young men entering maritime services, to the care and welfare of those who are at sea, and their families in port, the Navy League supplies a broad and intelligently co-operative measure of assistance which is without exact counterpart in the land.

Under Captain R. W. McMurray, president of the Victoria Branch of the Navy League, and an active membership committee, a special drive is being made now for more individual and financial support to a service that is doing a great deal of practical good in the community. More workers to take an active interest in the League, and more helpers to carry on the work that must be maintained, are the real objects of the present campaign. Seldom has the public of Greater Victoria been solicited in a better cause.

Seen in Passing

A necessary concomitant of freedom is the surrender of some individual privileges to that joint domain which is under the trusteeship of the law. Police forces take the place of personal retribution and vengeance. Trial by due process is superior to fisticuffs and argument. Debate in Parliament is a greater practical force for good than any suborned view forced upon an unwilling people. The law, however, must have man's consent, because only by consent may human beings be governed. When we speak of freedom, we should recall that it is liberty within the law.

The Last Word

Creep into thy narrow bed,
Creep and let no more be said!
Vain thy onset! All stands fast.
Thou thyself must break at last.

Let the long contention cease!
Geese are swans and swans are geese.
Let them have it how they will!
Thou art tired; best be still!

They out-talk'd thee, hiss'd thee, tore thee?
Better men fared thus before thee;
Fired their ringing shot and pass'd,
Hotly charged—and broke at last.

Charge once more, then, and be dumb!
Let the victors, when they come,
When the forts of folly fall,
Find thy body in the wall!

CAIRO CONFERENCE

It might be stretching the imagination a trifle to telescope 5,000 years in the hunt for poetic justice, but those who are historically inclined will recognize the congruous setting of the [illegible] Cairo Conference, at which plans for the destruction of modern tyranny were laid in the hallowed precincts of tyrants of old.

While the cables so far have stopped short of actually saying that Mr. Churchill, Mr. Roosevelt and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek met in the shadow of the great Pyramids there is little doubt Mena House, the palatial hotel, a stone's throw from those great monuments of antiquity, was the locale of the historic meeting.

Only Mena House is large enough to cater for the huge retinue that attended the conference, and its situation makes it easy to surround with a cordon of guards. The three leaders are reported to have strolled over to look closely at the Pyramids, and they would be unlikely to leave the protected area on this extra-mural exercise.

HISTORICAL FITNESS

It is easy to believe that Mr. Churchill, with his deep feeling for historical fitness, suggested Mena House as the scene of the conference. Hitler probably won't appreciate the full subtlety of the occasion, since the only dynasty that matters to him is his own, but Hirohito, with his veneration for the past, should not be oblivious to its implications. Whether he will relish it any more than the builders of the pyramids would, were they able to jump back through time and see what took place on their sacred burial grounds, is doubtful.

For, as everyone knows, that is what the pyramids are, the tombs of the Pharaohs. In those far-off days the first thing an Egyptian king did when he ascended the throne was to begin to lay out his cemetery and erect his tombstones. Not because he feared he might need them soon, although suspiciously quick demise was not unknown in these parts, but so that posterity might see what a great man he had been. The bigger the pile of stone that hid the royal mummy, the more resplendent his reign.

VANITY OF MAN

This is not to belittle the wonder of the pyramids. Guidebooks tell you the best time to visit them is in moonlight, when the full majesty of these ancient structures is more evident. The few times this writer saw them was in the burning afternoon, it may have been lack of romantic atmosphere, discomfort or sheer historical ignorance, but he does not recollect rhapsodising about them.

There is no question as to their rightful place as one of the seven wonders of the ancient world, however. The colossal task involved in building them and the accuracy of their measurements, in view of the known appliances at hand, are almost beyond credence. But they are essentially monuments to the tyranny and vanity of man.

SWEAT AND TOIL

Cheops, the Pharaoh who built the Great Pyramid, probably never heard the word totalitarian, but evidently knew what it meant. For 20 years, almost the whole period of his reign, the resources of his state were harnessed to build his stupendous mausoleum. There was no manpower problem, quarrying the great blocks of stone, ferrying them across the Nile and tugging and pulling them into position mainly by hard manual labor.

Chephren, his brother, who succeeded him and reigned almost as long, carried on the family tradition and he, too closed the temples of the fellaheen so that they might better spend their whole life in the service of his self-esteem. He planned an even bigger pyramid, but there was a hitch in his transport arrangements and he had to be content with one a trifle smaller than that of his predecessor. Since he had picked a site upon somewhat higher ground, however, his complacency was undisturbed, for it made his sepulchre appear bigger.

ROYAL PORTRAIT

He also devised another monument to carry evidence of his omnipotence down the ages. When building the customary temple that went with a pyramid he found that it would be overshadowed by a huge rock which rose out of the desert, whereupon he had the happy idea of turning nature to his personal glorification. He had his likeness carved into the rock, which his sculptors made into an image of the Sun god, a human-headed lion wearing the royal headdress.

This is the famous Sphinx which for countless centuries puzzled the world, the enigma whose impassive face was thought to hide a profound secret. Now it is known to be simply a royal portrait, with nothing more behind it than many another portrait. The temple has come to be known as the Temple of the Sphinx, although in reality the Sphinx was an afterthought.

LESS PRETENTIOUS

The third pyramid at Giseh is a pygmy besides its brothers. History tells us that Mycerinus, a son of Cheops, was of a different temperament from his father or uncle. He reopened the temples of the fellaheen and allowed them to return to their former occupations, contenting himself with a much less pretentious resting place. His reign is recorded as being mild and kind.

It would be Mycerinus whom the Allied leaders would have in mind as they gazed at these monuments to misplaced human endeavor, and prepared to follow his example by restoring to many enslaved peoples the right to live their own lives and follow their own occupations.

A REMINDER

Sir,—Why are the Japanese so bitter at the white refusal to grant them immigration in so far as they have the most drastic exclusion laws of any country in the world? For instance, property holding and citizenship rights are absolutely un[illegible] including Chinese, can be and have been expelled from Japanese provinces on a few hours' notice. Obviously this is a Japanese provincial prerogative and incidentally is exactly applicable to the present conditions to British Columbia (provincially a domestic problem).

Considering that the "be-nice-to-the-Japanese" party of British Columbia, the C.C.F., and also the appeasement groups of Canada, who for the past six weeks have had a wide-open publicity campaign, I would like to quote in part the following, which was printed in Japan in 1916 and published by The Literary Digest (July 5, 1918, page 31):

"North America alone will support a billion people; that billion shall be Japanese with their slaves. Not arid Asia, nor worn-out Europe (which, with its peculiar and quaint relics and customs should in the history and culture, be in any case preserved), nor yet tropical Africa is fit for our people. But North America, that continent so succulently green, fresh and unsullied—except for the few chattering Yankees—should have been ours by right of discovery. It shall be ours by the higher, nobler right of conquest, etc."

This is the class of food that the Imperial Japanese youth has been raised on since 1898.

Decision Reserved

British Columbia Court of Appeal, sitting in Vancouver, reserved its decision yesterday over the appeal of Henry Spelman, 74, from a decision of the late Mr. Justice Ellis which gave Spelmans' wife, Sarah Ann, 69, a three-fifths interest in a $4,500 property at Victoria. The couple were married in England nearly 50 years ago and came to Canada in 1911.

A psychologist stated in a health article: "It is not good for a man to keep too much to himself." Income tax authorities heartily agree . . . Bill, the Broad Street barber, strolled into the shop half an hour late yesterday morning with the tip of his nose a shining [illegible] your beak today? It seems rather red" the boss acidly commented. "There is nothing the matter with my nose. It is merely blushing with pride because it does not stick itself into other people's business," Bill haughtily replied . . . Perhaps Goebbels can explain what has happened to the word "blitzkrieg" . . . Manitoba faces a shortage of Christmas trees. From 30 to 50 per cent fewer turkeys will be packed in that province this year . . . Max Hill, former head of the Associated Press Bureau at Tokio, states in an article in Click: "If the appeasement-minded majority can be controlled, we eventually will dictate the peace terms in Tokio. Or better, we will dictate the terms of unconditional surrender with the military of Japan completely discredited, even in the eyes of their own people. But the job will be long, hard and costly. Japan's one purpose now is to fight back and stall for more time, not to attack. She now has about 70 per cent of the East Indies oil wells back in production and 60,000,000 people to work for her producing oil, tin, rubber and other war products. At the beginning of the war, Japan had vast stockpiles of scrap iron, aluminum, machine tools and copper, and about 6,000,000 gross tons of shipping of which well over 1,000,000 tons has been sunk. She is building small wooden ships to transport war materials in Japan and Hongkong, and a railway line along the coast of China. The people get enough to eat, and I doubt that we can starve them out. She has at least 5,000,000 men under arms and a reserve of about 5,000,000. The recapture of Burma will put Japan in a tight spot because it will pave the way for us to attack through China. After that we will be in a better position to start the naval war into which the battle for Asia must eventually develop."

Italian Raids

Two contre-torpilleurs of the Aigle and Guepard class also hit and lying on their sides partly submerged. This type of ship, larger than a destroyer but smaller than a cruiser, normally carries five 5½-inch guns.

A Pomona class torpedo boat and an Elan class escort vessel both sunk.

At least five E-boats probably sunk.

An armed merchant vessel about 300 feet long which had been refitted hit and left listing.

An armed merchant vessel 314 feet long seriously damaged.

Three U-boats probably damaged.

Two trawlers and several supply barges sunk.

The central drydock at Missiessy Basin and the northwest drydock at the entrance to the D'Arse Veille were flooded and the northeast drydock to the D'Arse Veille partially flooded.

In the Marseille raid today submarine pens and construction facilities in the harbor were bombed.

Wednesday's assault on Turin was made without loss to the bombers. The big four-engined planes shattered the plant in two waves 45 minutes apart.

During the attack another small formation of heavy bombers bombed the Villanova airfield nearby.

Between eight and 12 Nazi fighters which tried to intercept the first wave of bombers were beaten off by fighters which escorted the bombers. The second wave of raiders shot down two German planes.

a mere token occupation of Germany by the Red Army.

As unofficially envisaged in London, any big three declaration might assure the German people, as Stalin already has done, that the Allies are not fighting them but their Nazi masters. It might assert:

1. The United Nations have no intention of annihilating Germany, but only her power of aggression.

2. Germany may retain roughly her 1919 boundaries, but, like Japan, will be stripped of all conquests.

3. Germany will not be enslaved.

4. The Nazi regime must be abolished, leaving Germany to choose her own form of democratic government.

5. Germany will be free to develop her economic life within the bounds of honest trade and controls against rearmament.

6. Under stringent safeguards against aggressions, Germany will remain a sovereign member of the European community.

Chrysanthemum Society Holds Annual Meeting

Annual meeting of the Victoria and District Chrysanthemum Society was held last night at the City Hall, when officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, M. O. Mayhew; vice-president, L. Holyoak; secretary, J. Craig; executive, D. Nicol, W. Brady, A. Hewitt, S. Barlow and J. Walton.

M. O. Mayhew gave a short talk on cuttings and potting soils, and [illegible] mie was the best medium for rooting cuttings and mixing with potting soil.

Thanks to the society were tendered in a letter from the Junior League of the Queen Alexandra Solarium for the donation of $450 being the proceeds of the recent show staged at the Crystal Garden.

Reports on the past season's activities were submitted by the retiring officers, and the financial statement showed the society to be in a good position.

has an army of two and a half million men, a powerful navy and an air force that is still to be respected, despite losses.

The only shortage appears to be shipping, but even with this handicap, says The Times correspondent, Australian and United States forces have had to fight for every inch of ground they have gained.

The House of Commons majority approval of Home Secretary Morrison's release of Fascist leader, Sir Oswald Mosley, says The Times, has demonstrated that a rational view has been taken of a question arousing great passion among electors.

When encroachments have been made on citizen's liberties in war time, Parliament must exercise jealous care that strict conditions are imposed on the use of special arbitrary powers. Otherwise courts will refuse to sustain action of the executive.

It must be taken as established that further detention in prison would have endangered Mosley's life, and the Home Secretary could not refuse to consider that fact in case of a person convicted of no offence.

If Mosley was rearrested now, courts finding that the reasonable cause required by special wartime regulations no longer existed, would release him again. Thus arguments of those who wanted him sent back to prison are, says The Times, exposed as fallacious.

General Montgomery's offensive in Italy is going well, says The Times military correspondent. Quick results are not expected. Nothing that can be described as an offensive has been undertaken by General Clark's combined Anglo-American forces. They have yet to clear much high ground before they reach the road to Rome.

Bitter fighting has been renewed along the whole Southern Russian front. The struggle is now for the north and south railways, the loss of which will be fatal for the Germans.

holds, the communique declared. The dispatches said this push had carried within artillery range of Znamenka, rail supply line crossroads for the German holdout stand in the Dnieper bend.

One German broadcast acknowledged a withdrawal of several miles under heavy Soviet pressure.

While the Russians were silent on the German counter-attack on the front west of Kiev, the Germans were equally cautious in reports on this salient. Some dispatches from Moscow declared the Germans had hurled a reserve force of 2,000 tanks into this battle in renewed attempts to break Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's defences.

The Russians also were throwing in great numbers of tanks and huge mobile guns, often alongside the tanks. The Soviets employed their Dnieper fleet to speed the flow of armor into a showdown battle, augmenting the columns rumbling across bridges.

Short of the recapture of Kiev, German gains mean little tactically in this Kiev sector, since they are being flanked by Rokossovsky to the north, and menaced by the Cherkasy bridgehead to the southeast, midway between Kiev and Kremenchug.

The Soviet communique said 71 German tanks and 23 planes were destroyed in fighting today. Bad weather was said in Moscow dispatches to be hampering Soviet air support, especially in the Kiev sector.

MONCTON, N.B., Dec. 2 (CP)—Twelve freight cars, loaded with wheat, were derailed today at a switch in the Canadian National Railways yard at Harcourt, between Moncton and Newcastle. No one was injured.

According to Culbertson

The fact that a player did not lead such and such a card is highly significant to a declarer who knows how to visualize the unseen hands. For example:

The bidding:

West led the seven of spades. East played the nine and declarer won with the blank ace. Now, not knowing the distribution of diamonds, declarer played properly in cashing the ace and then leading the queen. West won, cashed the spade king and continued with the spade jack, dummy's queen winning. East followed suit with the four and three of spades.

Declarer now entered his own hand with a heart to the ace and cashed the diamond jack. West's failure to follow created a problem. Declarer could concede a diamond trick to East, thus setting up the rest of the suit, but how would he regain the lead to cash those established diamonds?

West's discard on the third diamond had been the ten of clubs, which made it fairly evident that he was guarding the heart suit. If he was now down to the high spade, three hearts and the K-J of clubs, it would be easy to cash the king and queen of hearts, then throw West in with a heart or a spade and force him to lead from his club king. But declarer saw a serious flaw in this plan. It was extremely doubtful that West had the high spade. He had led the seven, and later had shown the king and jack. The ten was still at large. Was it conceivable that West, if he had held the K-J-10 at the top of his spade suit, would have opened any card but the jack, the top of this interior sequence? Declarer thought not, and of course he was right.

South decided to enlist the enemy's help if he could. He put East in with a diamond. And now East did exactly what declarer had hoped he would do—he cashed the high spade. What this did to poor West was plenty! Declarer at this point had the Q-6 of clubs, a heart and a diamond. Dummy, waiting for West's discard, had three hearts and the A-8 of clubs. West's five card holding was three hearts and the K-J of clubs—but he had to discard one card! If he let go a heart, the low club would be thrown from dummy and all the hearts would be good. If West blanked the club king, dummy would discard a heart.

With his partner's help, West had been caught in a suicide squeeze.

Canadians in Demon Squadron Give Nazi U-Boats Hot Time

LONDON, Dec. 2 (CP).—Members of the R.C.A.F.'s demon squadron recently scored two "probables" — and one "scared under"—in hot actions against Nazi U-boats in the Bay of Biscay, the R.C.A.F. reported today in an overseas press release.

Wellington bombers, with all-Canadian crews, made the attacks [illegible]. In each case the planes went down through heavy flak to straddle the subs with depth charges from low level. When they wheeled to finish the job the U-boats had vanished.

Both bombers were captained by Alberta boys—F.O. H. S. (Doc) Thomson, of Nemiskan, and P.O. P. W. (Pete) Heron, of Edmonton.

Thomson's bomber saw the most action. It found a U-boat fully surfaced and the Nazi gunners were on deck manning three anti-aircraft guns. The sub opened fire as soon as the aircraft came within range, but P.O. George Ashle, of Mille Roches, Ont., operating the front gun, shot back at them, getting a ten-second burst of about 950 rounds.

German flak burst all around but none of it registered. Six depth charges dropped on the top of the sub when Thomson dropped to 75 feet above the conning tower. W.O.2 (Nick) Carter, of London, Ont., in the rear gun turret, saw the sub's stern blow high out of the water and toss around at right angles.

"We circled the area for 20 minutes, but the sub had disappeared and there was nothing more to be seen," Ashle said.

B.C. FLYER IS CO-PILOT

Co-pilot was F.O. W. J. (Bill) Gallagher, of Powell River, B.C., and F.O. H. R. Armstrong, of Pincher Creek, Alta., acted as wireless air gunner.

In the other attack, Heron was handicapped, for his front gun stopped working just as his plane bored in on the sub, which was also surfaced, with its gunners sending up "everything but the kitchen stove."

The U-boat opened fire just as the aircraft closed in. The navigator, W.O. H. F. (Howie) Pender, of Toronto, didn't have time to get to the front gun, so F.O. L. A. (Lou) Arner, of Prince Albert, Sask., jumped out of the co-pilot's seat and took over, getting in one short burst before the gun jammed.

Six depth charges dropped from 75 feet and the Wellington came around in a steep, fast bank to find the submarine gone.

The crew also included F.O. R. C. (Bob) Hayes, of Agassiz, B.C.

Thomson's ship made a second attack on a [illegible]. It scored its probable, but the crew isn't making any claims. Out of depth charges, they faked an attack and the U-boat went under.

Thomson and Ashle had finished their 50th trip with the R.C.A.F. Demon Squadron on that sortie. For Heron's crew it was the 18th trip and they had done 17 patrols without sighting an enemy.

Seattle Receives Canadian Units

Members of the various forces in and around Victoria represented the Sidney Hostess House in Seattle as guests of the Jefferson Park recreational camp last week.

The party consisted of Cpls. L. Forbes and S. Cotton, C.W.A.C.; Cpl. N. Broughn and L.A.W. I. Thorburn, R.C.A.F. (W.D.); Leading Wrens Peacock and Hall, R.C.N.; P.O. J. A. Moltini, R.N., and L. Seaman A. Leatham, R.C.N.; Sgt. Maurice and Gunner Lines, R.C.A.; L.A.C. E. Savage and A.C.1 R. Laurin, R.C.A.F.; L.A.C. A. S. Lyle and L.C.1 D. H. Martin, R.A.F. The visitors were accompanied by Mrs. J. B. Ellis, Y.W.C.A. hostess at Sidney. They were met at the boat by representatives of the recreation camp, and conveyed to the camp to be met by Major Ralph J. Sitts, commandant, through whom the visit had been arranged by Mrs. Ellis.

On Thursday the party from Canada was shown around the camp. After an early lunch they attended a matinee performance at the Music Box Theatre in Seattle, returning to the recreation camp for dinner, at which Major Sitts presided. Votes of thanks from the various members of the forces were tendered to Major Sitts and Miss Beverly Mero, his very capable camp hostess, to which they very graciously replied. "God Save the King" and "God Bless America" were sung by all present. Prior to dinner, a cocktail party was held at the house of Major Sitts, and the Canadians and Britishers were introduced to equivalent members of the United States forces whom they partnered at dinner. Later in the evening transport conveyed both groups to Seattle, where a pleasant time was spent in the Merchant Seamen's Service Club.

VISITORS SHOWN MANY POINTS TO INTEREST

On Friday a tour around the University of Washington grounds was arranged, and the Seattle Art Museum and the Penthouse Theatre were also visited, the latter proving of special interest to the members of the dramatic section of the Hostess House Group. Lunch was provided at the Washington Athletic Club, after which the party proceeded to the County-City Building to be received by the Mayor, William F. Devin.

Mr. Devin gave the party the freedom of the city. Mrs. Ellis, in replying for the Hostess House, said how glad she and the rest of the party were to be there and that it was hoped to welcome a return party from America to the Sidney Hostess House. She expressed the hope that the scheme whereby social groups could visit each other's country would extend over Canada and the U.S.A., thereby giving the young people a chance to cement a band of common friendship.

Leaving the mayor's office, they visited the Smith Tower, the highest building on the Pacific Coast.

A farewell dinner in honor of Miss Elva May, the sponsor of the trip, and who made the Smith Tower visit possible, was held in the Italian Village Cafe, and the evening's activities closed with a dance at the recreation camp.

It is hoped soon to have as guests at Sidney Recreational House a similar group of representatives of the American fighting services.

WHY YOU MUST DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING NOW!

Already the normal traffic on B.C. Electric cars and buses is greatly in excess of last year's CHRISTMAS traffic.

But wait a minute. The situation is not hopeless.

The traffic problem is almost entirely one of peak hours and peak days. The Christmas traffic problem is the result of SHOPPERS added to the REGULAR traffic.

Today average daily traffic is running 5,000 passengers greater than last year. Traffic last December 24 reached 47,000 passengers. We cannot comfortably carry 52,000 this December.

The alternatives are either to SHOP NOW or to be inconvenienced by waiting at the curb as crowded street cars pass you up.

Unfortunately some SHOPPERS may be lucky enough to get a place on the cars and thus prevent WAR WORKERS getting home.

We therefore appeal to everyone to do their Christmas shopping NOW in order to save themselves inconvenience and delay at Christmas and to allow the war effort to proceed without any hindrance.

Whatever you do, shoppers, don't travel between 4 and 6 p.m., leave the transit lines to the workers.

DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING NOW AND NOT IN CHRISTMAS WEEK

SHOPPERS, KEEP OFF STREET CARS BETWEEN 4 AND 6 P.M.

Lady Tweedsmuir Says Toy Club Work Ingenious

LADY Tweedsmuir, now residing at Elsfield Manor, Oxford, England, recently received a shipment of toys from the British Columbia Toys Club and states in a letter sent to Mrs. Lorna Evans, of the club: "A second most beautiful parcel of toys has arrived for me and may I tell you how deeply grateful I am to you and your wonderful group of friends for sending me anything so delightful. I can't stop looking at the toys myself; they are so beautifully made, so ingenious and clever and so pretty. I know what hours of work must have gone into the making of them."

The letter continues

"I am in touch with friends to send the toys to a very much bombed part of Stepney in the east end of London. Through the Infant Welfare Centre there, each mother will get one toy for her child, owing to your kindness and generosity. I know how the children's faces will brighten when they see them. Toys are almost impossible to get here, and anyway, they could never get anything so nice as what you have sent, and children do cling to their toys. It gives them a feeling of security even when they have been through so many hardships

"I so often think of Victoria and of the happy times I spent there, again thanking you so much, yours very truly, Susan Tweedsmuir."

Approximately 1,586 children have received toys through the British Columbia Toys Club during 1943, it was announced at a recent meeting. Weddings

PHILIPCHALK—KNIGHT

Cpl. and Mrs. P. A. Philipchalk have taken up residence in Victoria after a honeymoon in Seattle. The bride, the former Vera Rosetta Knight, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs John Knight, Kerr Avenue became the bride of Cpl Peter Adam Philipchalk, No. 10, Canadian Provost Corps, eldest son of Mrs S. A. Leffler, and the late Mr A. Philipchalk, Spinney Hill, Sask., at a double ring ceremony performed by Pastor E. W. Robinson in Glad Tidings Tabernacle on Friday evening last. Miss Wheeler played the wedding music and Mrs. G. Murrant sang "O Perfect Love." A full-skirted frock of white triple sheer was worn by the bride, given in marriage by her father, and her veil was caught into a wreath of orange blossom. She carried a bouquet of roses and chrysanthemums, and also wore a diamond brooch, a gift from the bridegroom, and a necklace of pearls. The bride's attendants were her sister-in-law, Mrs. Douglas Knight, dressed in pink triple sheer, with a bouquet of pink snapdragons and chrysanthemums; Miss Eunice Hewitt, in blue net, with a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums, and little Shirley Murrant, in turquoise blue with a Victorian cascade bouquet. All wore halo headdresses to match their frocks. Guards of honor were Cpl Johnson and Pte Balk, and Pte Gordon Beamish (all of No. 10 C.P.C.) was groomsman. Acting as ushers were Messrs. Douglas Knight and Frank Beaumont. Chrysanthemums and ferns were arranged in the church and at the home of the bride's parents, where Mr and Mrs. Knight welcomed over eighty guests. The young couple stood beneath an illuminated arch during the reception, and the lace-covered supper table was centred with the cake flanked by lighted tapers and vases of flowers. Mr. Stuart Yates, an old family friend, gave the toast. The bride went away in a blue and brown ensemble with a fur-trimmed coat.

Coleman Praises Women Workers

WINNIPEG, Dec. 2 (CP)—Praise for women railway workers who have tackled "the hard jobs" came from D. C Coleman, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in an interview here.

He said nearly 700 women are working in the yards and roundhouses wiping locomotives, cleaning coaches and checking cars.

"They are proving most satisfactory," said Mr Coleman, who left for Montreal today following a tour to the Pacific coast.

Instead of saying that man is the creature of circumstances it would be nearer the mark to say that man is the architect of circumstances. It is a character which builds an existence out of circumstance.

Agriculturists Seek Protective Legislation for Postwar Years

Dominion legislation that will protect the farmers of Canada and the prices of their products when the War Measures Act and the Wartime Prices and Trade Board no longer function will be sought by the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, so the directors decided at a meeting in Vancouver, November 24. This leg- [illegible] effect, have to be similar to the Dominion Natural Resources Marketing Act which was abolished in 1935. The B.C. Federation will submit that the Dominion Government recognized that rational regulations were necessary in respect to farm products prices when it invoked the War Measures Act and set up the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, and it will further submit that such regulations will be equally necessary when the War Measures Act ceases to operate.

British Columbia and Alberta Boards of Trade in conference in Vancouver early in December will be requested by the federation to organize a survey of the trade in farm products between the two provinces with a view to stabilizing this trade and co-operating toward fair prices to the primary producers of both provinces. The federation declares that with the ever-increasing trade in farm products between the two provinces, general business will be benefited equally with the farmers if fair prices obtain.

The federation will also urge that minimum prices for farm products be arranged—that is, floor prices—just as ceiling prices have been organized. Farm machinery prices will be examined and also food grain prices in British Columbia. In the latter investigation the complaint that British Columbia grain growers are discriminated against because they have to meet the competition of subsidies granted prairie grain growers will be explored. The finding will be submitted to the Canadian Federation of Agriculture at Ottawa for presentation to the proper authorities.

LARGER SUGAR QUOTA FOR 1944

Double the 1943 canning sugar quota to farm families will be requested for 1944. This means that the federation will urge that 20 pounds per person be granted to farm families for canning purposes. There was a tremendous drop in home canning and jam making in 1943 for two reasons, one of which was shortage of sugar and the other shortage of fruits. This latter condition also affected the commercial processors. The 1944 outlook is for heavy crops of soft tree fruits and small fruits, and no carry-over of home-canned or jam fruits.

The federation agreed that the farm radio forum should receive vigorous support, as they were a strong asset to the farm movement. Contribution will be made to the farm radio organization work through Dr. G. M. Shrum, the forum's provincial secretary.

PM Buys Building

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (CP)—Marshall Field's New York tabloid newspaper PM, which has published daily since June 18, 1940, and has not published any advertising, has purchased its own building at Duane and Hudson Streets in downtown New York, PM announced today.

The paper has maintained two editorial departments—one in Brooklyn and one in Manhattan—and its printing has been done at a third plant.

Scientist Speaks To Rotary Club

Dr. Joseph A. Pearce, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, gave an erudite address before the members of the Rotary Club at a luncheon Thursday at the Empress Hotel. Illustrated by slides, Dr. Pearce's talk, "Surveying the Universe," described the various methods used by astronomers in locating distances to the stars.

Speaking of the galactic system, or Milky Way, Dr. Peace related that 100 years ago the distance to three stars was known. "35 years ago we knew the approximate distance of 100 stars, and in the last decade one English and six American observatories have co-operated in measuring distances, and now 8,000 stars are known, and 2,000 nebulae."

One-third of this knowledge is determined in Victoria, the speaker admitted.

The trigonometric method used by surveyors was explained, and slides illustrated the system in obtaining the base lines for measurement. The value of photography was evidenced, this method being used to measure very minute angles.

"The theory is easy," explained Dr. Pearce, "but practical experience requires great skill to prevent a probable error of a determination."

Light years, the astronomer's yard stick for measuring space, was explained, the speaker saying that this is the distance light travels in one year, going at an approximate speed of 186,000 miles a second. Luminous and spectographic methods were dealt with by the speaker. The Milky Way, with the sun two-thirds away from the centre, and adjacent star cities, were shown by slides, and the dark interstellar matter discussed by Dr. Pearce.

James Little was chairman, and guests included Miss Wynne Shaw and visiting Rotarians R. McKenzie, Edmonton; Harold Ely, Sedro Wooley; Arthur McCulloch, Alberni; Jack Arnold, Bermuda, and Tom Chester, Winnipeg.

NO. 300—EIGHTY-FIFTH YEAR — VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1943

Glancing Over Sport

By JOE DELAHUNTY

THE DAY'S ROUNDUP

Here's a couple of more hockey rumors for you Coast League fans to ponder over. The first is that Coach Frank Frederickson, famous centreman of the world's championship Winnipeg Falcons back in 1920 and later with the Victoria Cougars when that squad won the Stanley Cup, may have the services of Jack McGill, ex-Boston Bruin star, in the near future. Secondly, there is some gossip, but how true this corner banks on it is between you and I and the gate post, that a chap named "Turk" Broda, for many seasons netminder for the Toronto Maple Leafs and storm centre of the recent hockey rumpus, may be out on the coast to perform between the pipes for the soldiers, playing out of a place called Nanaimo. Those two rumors probably won't be worth a dime, but yours truly isn't going to take any chances and pass them up for, after all, they may not be a pipe dream after all. . . . Two visitors to the sports department last night were Rollie O'Leary, C.P.R. publicity agent for British Columbia, and Jack Meek, formerly connected with The Vancouver Sun, but now with the Canadian Pacific Air Lines in an official capacity. . . . Wonder why our old friend Lou Labovitch isn't in uniform for the R.C.A.F. icemen? The story will come out one of these days. The reason why Bobby Kirk isn't playing is that he is suffering from injuries and may be on the shelf for several games, at least.

ODDS AND ENDS

Officials of the local Rugby Union are keeping their fingers crossed for, since the season started, they have not had a rainy Saturday. The way it has been coming out of the sky the last two days I'm afraid that Jupe Pluvius is going to keep it up for several more hours. In other words, this corner predicts raindrops for the ruggers tomorrow. . . . Remember when they used to play pro and amateur hockey games in two 30-minute periods? In those days most of the clubs boasted of 60-minute men who dished it out and took it at the same time. Nearly 30 years ago the ice moguls got their heads together and decided to turn the game into three 20-minute periods and that rule has been upheld ever since. . . . Several boxers from the Army and Navy will invade Seattle a week from today to take part in a charity fistic programme for the American Red Cross Society at the invitation of Royal Brougham, veteran sports editor of The Seattle P.I. At least four well-known punchers are expected to be carrying the colors of the Esquimalt Fortress, while the bluejackets' team will be headed by none other than P.O. Gordie Grayston, who still holds the heavyweight crown of the Royal Canadian Navy. . . . Imagine a world's fight champion fighting for a purse of $5. That's what Serg't Jackie Paterson, flyweight titleholder as recognized by the United States and Britain, did recently at London's Albert Hall and hammered out a convincing victory. Glasgow's Jackie wasn't defending his title as he was representing the R.A.F. against the Army on a charity programme. Jackie was in the "killer" mood against Jim Hayes, Leeds pro featherweight, throughout the three heats and twice slipped to the floor through sheer exuberance of attack. A flurry of hammer blows in the first sent Hayes to the canvas with a bloody nose but the Leeds lad recovered to last out the distance, although no match for the fast-stepping titleholder.

IN THE MAIL BAG

Dear Joe:

Having just read your column in yesterday's Colonist, I am now very anxious to procure a copy of the hockey book you mention. It sounds very interesting and seeing that I get into quite a few hockey arguments, perhaps this book would help to back me up. Many of the lads here are ardent hockey fans, and though there are but two from good old Victoria, I can truthfully say that your column is in great demand.

There is an argument going on now concerning "Bunny" Dame who played for the Canadiens for one year. Before that he was with Trail and prior to that with Edmonton juniors. Now the question is: Did he at any time play for the Kimberley Dynamiters? Perhaps you could enlighten us on that.

I still consider Elmer Kreller one of the sweetest forwards ever to hit Victoria. Too bad the New York Rangers haven't got him now, they sure could use him.

Thanking you in advance for anything you might be able to do for me along those lines.

Very truly yours,
Grant "Buster" Stewart,
Tranquille, B.C., December 1, 1943.

Comment: The book is as good as in Tranquille right now, for it went out on the midnight boat. It is interesting but won't have the information you want to settle arguments with your pals at the institution. However, I will write East and get you a book with all the records up to the finish of last season. "Bunny" Dame never played for the Dynamiters. He toured Europe with Trail when they won the world's title. Dame stayed another season with the Smoke-Eaters and then turned pro with Montreal at the start of the 1939-40 campaign. Good luck and a speedy recovery to the boys at Tranquille. Thank them for the flattering remarks about the column. Will write again before Santa Claus appears on the scene.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Dec. 2 (CP)—Nanaimo Army Commanders trounced Vancouver St. Regis 9-3 here tonight to go into a second place tie with Esquimalt Navy in the Pacific Coast Senior Hockey League, only half a game behind the leading Sea Island R.C.A.F. Seahawks.

Nanaimo scorers were Gnr. Sammy Kennedy with three, Gnr. Nick Metz and Lt. Terry Reardon with two each, Pte. Dizzy Desilets and Bpr. Elmer Kreller. Bill Hutton counted twice for St. Regis and Ed Trites got the other.

About 1,500 fans saw a good game for two periods while St. Regis were holding the soldiers closely but in the third period the game turned into a rout when Nanaimo counted five times without a reply from the Vancouver team.

St. Regis surprised by getting the only goal of the first period and were still in the battle at the end of the second as Commanders led by only a 4-3 margin.

The Vancouver team was seriously weakened by the absence of two of its best players, Ralph Blyth, who is ill with a sore back, and Romeo Martel, who is having some dental work done.

Deals Are Discussed

Cleveland Ready To Trade Bagby

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—Baseball's Winter meetings went into the stretch today with a lot of talk—and little else—about possible player deals.

Except for a few scattered instances, all the trade winds were blowing around the Cleveland Indians and their need for a good centre-fielder. Manager Lou Boudreau was in a huddle with practically everyone, dangling Jim Bagby, his supposedly-dissatisfied right-hand elbower, as trading bait.

But even the Indians just about had their best trading tomahawk taken away today when they were informed their top southpaw twirler of last season, Lefty Al Smith, had just been placed in 1A by his local draft board. Smith at his home in Webster Grove, Mo., said he hadn't heard anything from his board as yet.

If Smith is inducted the Tribe is going to think twice before giving up Bagby, although for four days they've been trying to peddle him off for a centre-fielder.

In addition to the Bagby-for-a-fly-chaser talk, the ivory market place also heard talk of a couple of other attempted transactions. One of these proposed straight first-baseman swap of Dick Siebert for Mickey Rocco which Boudreau and Connie Mack, of the Athletics, talked about. Another was the Philadelphia Phillies suggestion that they take Homestead Hurk Gear... of the hands of the Pittsburgh Pirate.

This was one plan the Phils had of ... Fortfield headache. They seem needed aspirin for their catching and one outfield ... So they talked too about a tempting a deal with the Chicago Cubs, who have three shortstops, five catchers, a brigade of outfielders and are generally better situated with raw material than any other club.

But ... air for ... balloon, and the only ... of the day found George Spencer Toporcer, the old Cardinal second-sacker and veteran manager of minor league clubs, named for one year to succeed Herb Pennock as head of the Boston Red Sox farm system for whom he has been a scout recently.

Prairie Ice Schedule

SASKATOON, Dec. 2 (CP)—Norman Couch, of Saskatoon, secretary of the Saskatchewan Senior Hockey League, tonight released a tentative schedule for the next nine games. The full schedule has not yet been approved by the league.

Dec. 8, Moose Jaw at Saskatoon; Dec. 11, Saskatoon at Yorkton and Moose Jaw at Flin Flon; Dec. 13, Moose Jaw at Flin Flon; Dec. 14, Moose Jaw at Yorkton; Dec. 18, Yorkton at Moose Jaw and Saskatoon at Flin Flon; Dec. 18, ... toon at Flin Flon; Jan. 1, Yorkton at Saskatoon.

Saturday—Detroit at Canadiens; Rangers at Toronto.

MONTREAL, Dec. 2 (CP)—Four fast goals in the dying moments broke up a closely fought National Hockey League game tonight and gave Montreal Canadiens a 6-2 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks.

It was Canadiens' 13th game without defeat this season, and the loss left the Hawks tied with Toronto Maple Leafs in the standings for second place.

Mike McMahon fired the goal that really won the game with five minutes to go, his drive from a scramble after Hec Highton had stood off repeated attacks breaking a 2-2 deadlock.

From then on the Canucks went crazy. Maurice Richard bagged another seconds later on the prettiest individual effort of the night, with Elmer Lach drawing an easy assist on the play.

Leo Lamoureux and Buddy O'Connor combined on the last two goals, Lamoureux taking Buddy's assist for the first and reversing the play on the second. O'Connor led the Canadiens attack with two goals and two assists.

Fernand Majeau opened the scoring early in the first, but the Hawks came back with a bang to score twice in the second on goals by George Allen and Mush March to force Canadiens to fight from behind. O'Connor's first goal of the night tied it up six minutes before the period ended, and set the play for Canadiens final period drive.

TORONTO, Dec. 2 (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs moved into a second-place tie in the National Hockey League tonight by coming from behind with a four-goal outburst in the third period to shade Detroit Red Wings, 6-5, before 8,484 fans in Maple Leaf Gardens.

Detroit had taken an early lead with two goals in a dull first period and each team scored two in the second, filled with wide open hockey. In the third Detroit got the first goal, but the Leafs came back with their four during a sustained power drive which lasted for almost ten minutes.

Sharpshooting Lorne Carr was the leading goal-getter for the Leafs, with two of their last-period goals. Other Toronto goals were scored by Elwin Morris, Ted Kennedy, George Boothman and Mel Hill.

Outstanding for Detroit was Adam Brown, who scored two unassisted goals on rink-length dashes. Joe Carveth also got a pair, one of his being unassisted. The other, first goal of the game, was tallied by Syd Howe.

LINE-UPS

Detroit—Franks; Simon, Egan; Grosso, Brown, Carveth. Subs: Jackson, Liscombe, Howe, Bruneteau, Jennings, Quackenbush, Smith.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

Crowned 1,400 Times—Theagenes of Thasos, famous Greek Olympian champion, won 1,400 crowns, more than any other athlete before or after. It is curious that Theagenes was tried for killing a man after he died. A statue of Theagenes had fallen upon a man, crushing him to death. The statue was convicted and thrown into the sea.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP).—Leading stocks again operated in recovery territory today and market favorites generally extended Wednesday's comeback by [illegible] 2 or more points.

Recovery tendencies prevailed at the start in active dealings. The pace eventually slowed appreciably and top gains were trimmed here and there at the close.

Waning of quick-peace talk, as the Near East Allied Conferences were interpreted by Wall Street as meaning the war was far from being over, caused selling to dry up in recently depressed armament issues. Difficulties might be obviated before final European victory arrives. This theory brought the reinstatement of commitments in a number of instances.

The Associated Press 60-stock average of 47.7 added .3 of a point to the .4 rally of the preceding session. Of 821 issues traded, 486 were up, 162 down and 175 unchanged. Transfers of 715,280 shares compared with 711,270 the day before.

The moving picture group was stimulated by a $1.50 extra declared by Loew's putting this company's disbursements for 1943 at $4 a common share against $1.50 last year.

Prominent on the upside were Loew's, Paramount Pictures, Santa Fe, Chesapeake & Ohio, Southern Pacific, Consolidated Edison, Western Union 'A', Chrysler, Greyhound Corp., Bethlehem, U.S. Rubber, Sears-Roebuck, J. I. Case, International Harvester and Douglas Aircraft.

DOW JONES AVERAGES

Dow Jones closing averages:
Thirty industrials, 131.6[illegible], up .98.
Twenty rails, 32.16, up .75.
Fifteen utilities, 21.12, up .02.
Total sales, 715,780 shares.

Power "A," Shawinigan and Winnipeg Electric preferred advanced, and in other groups prices were up for United Steel, some of the Great Lakes paper issues and Massey-Harris.

Macassa, Broulan, Cariboo, Chesterville, Powell Rouyn and Pamour were higher.

Smelters, Steep Rock and Normetal displayed strength, and Falconbridge, Waite-Amulet and Sudbury Basin declined.

Selling of Pacific Refineries carried the price down 12 cents to 75, and Vermilata also wilted about 3 cents to 12 under a moderate run of selling. Other soft Western oils were Okalta, Mid-Continent and Eastcrest.

What Today Means

SAGITTARIUS

If December 3 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 9.30 to 11.30 a.m., from 1.30 to 3.30 p.m. and from 7.30 to 9.30 p.m. The danger periods are from 7.30 to 9.30 a.m., from 5.30 to 7.30 p.m. and from 9.30 to 11.30 p.m.

It may require more effort to be agreeable than disagreeable today, but it will pay you to try to be so. You will be wise not to count your chickens before they are hatched, for an over-amount of optimism may result in a dangerous amount of complacency that will end in disappointment. Only by keeping on your tiptoes and overlooking no opportunity to press any advantage you may have gained during the day can you expect success to crown your endeavors. Throughout the day remember that 'he who laughs last laughs best,' so place a restraint on any desire to chuckle aloud at anyone else's expense. Married and engaged couples, and those whose courtships appear to be approaching a happy climax, will do well to 'remember this, that there is a proper dignity and proportion to be observed in the performance of every act of life.'

If a woman and December 3 is your birthday, you should, just ever so often, take the time to analyze your past activities and plan your future ones. Always bear in mind that experience is the best teacher and until you have gone through her school never undertake to do anything that requires a great deal of understanding. As a scientific research worker, missionary, lecturer, teacher, business manager, broker, actress, writer, singer, interior decorator, specialty shop operator, secretary, librarian, government employee, skilled mechanic or trained nurse, you may find yourself prospering and highly regarded by all of your close associates. All of your matrimonial hopes and expectations may sooner or later be realized.

The child born on December 3 must be taught to make good use of a lively imagination and the importance of curbing it whenever there is a temptation to let it run wild. Encourage this youngster's love for the great out-of-doors and Mother Nature. Generally by the time Sagittarian children attain their maturity their sterling qualities and talents have been discovered and they have been given starts in life that assure their having a successful future.

If a man and December 3 is your natal day, curb any tendency you might have to dictate to others what they should or should not do if you wish to be popular. You should be continually on your guard against indulging in an undue amount of suspicion or an unjustifiable amount of jealousy. As an [illegible] engineer, inventor, manufacturer, politician, chemist, expert promoter, builder, business executive, author, journalist, clergyman or through your activity in [illegible] military or naval operations, you may find yourself winning many laurels.

Torpedoed but Safe

LIEUT. DESIREE SEALE, R.C.A.M.C.

One of a party of nurses, on a transport recently torpedoed in the Mediterranean, Lieut.-Dietician Desiree Seale, R.C.A.M.C., has arrived safe "and in good spirits" at a North African port, according to word received yesterday by her parents, Major and Mrs. H. D Seale 1027 Deal Street, Oak Bay.

"We received word in a letter from Lieut. Graham Cuthbertson, P.P.C.L.I., just this morning, and it means a great deal to us to know that she is well. She lost all her kit, of course," Mrs Seale said.

Lieut. Seale, who went to England in 1939 to become head dietician at the Royal Northern Hospital, joined the R.C.A.M.C. two years later. Having served through the dark days of the London blitz, she has now experienced the terrors of torpedoing and the joy of rescue. Destination unknown, Lieut. Seale will be able to write more details about the happening as soon as she has arrived at her post.

She was educated at Strathcona Lodge School, Shawnigan Lake, and graduated from the University of Toronto.

New Grave Digger Demonstrated Here

A portable air compresser to operate grave-digging tools was demonstrated to the Board of Cemetery Trustees of Greater Victoria at Royal Oak Burial Park yesterday afternoon.

Those present were City Aldermen John A. Worthington and Edward Williams, and Councillors John Oliver and George Austin members of the Saanich Council.

Alderman Worthington explained that it took from 12 to 18 hours to dig a grave and the new machine would reduce the time by about one-third. He said shortage of labor had forced the board to purchase the machine.

Former Soldier Free Of Evasion Charge

Draft evasion charges against John Hutchinson who has been honorably discharged from the Canadian Active Army because of a low medical category, were withdrawn yesterday in Saanich police court at the request of G A Pennock, army draft registrar, Vancouver.

Yesterday the prosecutor read a letter from Pennock stating that the discharge was in order and recommending that the charge be withdrawn. At the same time the registrar suggested that Hutchinson again present himself for re-examination and further stated that he was advising the man of this action.

Remanded—Albert E Williams appeared again yesterday in the city police court on a charge of driving along Johnson Street on October 31 in a manner dangerous to the public and was remanded to December 8 to set a date for trial. Patrick J. Sinnott, acting city prosecutor, stated he was unable to proceed because Constable Davidson, a witness was confined to St. Joseph's Hospital by injuries received in an accident.

Charge Dismissed—A charge against Louie Yuk Hung of increasing the wages paid to cleaners in Belmont House without authority from the National War Labor Board was dismissed yesterday in the city police court. H. A. Beckwith, who appeared for the prosecution, admitted that limitations section of the Criminal Code of Canada prevented him from proceeding with the charge. Norman W. Whittaker, K.C., defence counsel accordingly moved for dismissal. Magistrate Henry C. Hall consented.

Invites Mayor to Chicago Meeting

A personal letter inviting Mayor Andrew McGavin to attend the United States Conference of Mayors at Chicago from January 18 to 21 was received at the City Hall yesterday from Mayor Fiorello H La Guardia, New York, president of the conference.

[illegible] means of improving municipal cooperation between our two countries, I earnestly hope you will find it possible to accept my invitation. I am sure that much good has resulted from the interchange of representatives to our respective meetings, and we are looking forward this year to resuming our cordial relationship."

Mayor McGavin has attended mayors' conferences at Portland and Ottawa.

Rev. Biddle Inducts New Lions Members

Lions are national in their outlook, and are putting their ethics and idealism into practice serving the community, Rev George Biddle told eight new members on the occasion of their induction into the club yesterday at the regular luncheon meeting held in Spencer's dining-room.

Every Lion must be a leader in his community, should preserve his individuality, work toward oneness of the group, be truly national in outlook, and devote himself to service in the good causes of his country, he said illustrating the meaning of each letter of the name Lions.

New members welcomed to the club were Harry Barnett, Leo Evenden, Alec Henderson, Jim Roberts, Jack Morrison, John Priestly, Charlie Savage and Milton King.

President Jack Fuller announced that four members, George Holt, Bill Taverner, Secretary Arthur Cann, and himself would attend the regional meeting in Vancouver, leaving December 10.

Reporting on progress of the Lions Home Subscriptions, R J Peers said some $20,000 had been turned in and he hoped to see another $5,000 added to this during the next two weeks. The lists will close on December 24. Lee Halberg recruited volunteers to help with a sidewalk sale of subscriptions and War Savings Stamps next Saturday.

Record of attendance was 20 per cent higher than in 1942, President Fuller stated. It had reached a new high, 93.7 per cent.

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 2 (CP)—A Tokio denial that a Japanese submarine sank the Australian hospital ship Centaur May 6, 1943, was "subtle propaganda decided upon when Japan realized that world public opinion condemned her cowardly sinking of an Allied hospital ship," Francis Forde, Australia's Army Minister, said today.

Handicapped Can Now Be Employed

Physical handicaps are not vocational handicaps, and if placed in the right job, the handicapped man or woman can be a real asset to his employer, for he places a higher value on his job, H. C. Hudson, Ottawa, supervisor of special [illegible] Service of Canada, said in an interview yesterday.

National planning for the handicapped was fully discussed at a recent conference in the East, and the special department is now setting up centres in 17 of the largest employment centres across Canada, including Victoria.

"The national director himself, Alan M. Mitchell, considers the work of such importance that he is touring the country to focus public attention on its broader aspects. Plans include ex-servicemen as well as civilians," Mr. Hudson said.

Of 2,400 physically-handicapped persons in Toronto, 400 had never before drawn a pay cheque, but are now proving eminently satisfactory. [illegible] lers, men who had no hope of becoming useful citizens, but who now have acquired self-confidence and a new skill. Our success in Montreal has brought in many who thought they were hopeless cases, and we have no way of knowing just how many people there are in Canada who suffer disabilities, but experience in the United States shows that only seven per cent turn up at employment offices under their own steam."

In that teeming city, a physician gives his time and services free to correct deficiencies and help the handicapped man or woman become normal useful citizens.

Asked what jobs the handicapped could do, Mr. Hudson replied: "It [illegible] things they cannot do and our whole aim is to fit the man in where he can best serve."

Safe from the draft, the handicapped place a higher value on their jobs because they have "had a tough time during the past 15 years," Mr. Hudson said. There is less absenteeism, and labor turnover is much less, besides which the accident rate is much lower than anticipated.

Special surveys have been conducted by the University of Toronto to discover occupations suitable for the handicapped in that area, and in checking up it was found that in 1,346 jobs, employees were all making good.

Alan M. Mitchell, national director, will speak on the subject at [illegible] of the Empress Hotel tonight at 8 p.m.
